

2005-Oct-1

This announcement is provided End of Life for several Infoblox software releases. These releases have been made obsolete by subsequent software releases for the supported platforms.

End of Service

Infoblox DNSone versions 2.3 and 2.4 reached End of Service on 2005-September-30, in accordance with standard Infoblox software End of Life policy. Infoblox will no longer provide maintenance for these releases.

Upgrade path

Customers may upgrade to a more recent version of DNSone for their platform, including the latest version of Infoblox DNSone software, version 3.1. When upgrading to a more recent release, certain hardware platforms may no longer be supported. The Infoblox support web site (support.infoblox.com) contains up to date information on current releases for all platforms.

Customers with active Infoblox maintenance programs that include software updates may upgrade as part of their maintenance program. For other customers, please see your Infoblox reseller for details and pricing for maintenance in order to obtain upgrades and support.
